Sir/Madam

I am glad to get the opportunity to write this letter of recommendation for Ghassan Mohammed Ali Al-Maitami in support of his application to pursue a Masters's degree in Computer Sciences at your university. He had been my student for more than three years. I am an associate professor at Information Science & Engineering College and taught him software engineering.

During his tenure as a student, he was a diligent, hardworking, and sincere student. His assignments, project work, and zeal shown in interaction in the classes incite his enthusiasm to learn. His grasping power is phenomenal, which is apparent from this work. He is an interactive, lively, and cultured student who follows the disciplines of life and the institution as well. Due to his team spirit and behavior, he is able to earn respect from his peers and professors.

He has creative thinking and problem-solving skills and a spirit to take the competitiveness to improve himself positively. He is able to score top grades in all his subjects throughout the studies at our institution.

I sincerely feel that he is a deserving student to get admission to your university. It will be the most suitable place for him to polish his existing skills by pursuing a Master's in Computer Sciences. He possesses every quality that is required to achieve his future goals and has the ability to contribute to your institution in various ways. I would like to recommend him to be considered for a seat in the master's course as he is sincerely a deserving candidate.

With regards,

التوقيع يتم اضافته هنا

Xu Yusheng

Associate Professor

School of Information Science & Engineering,

Lanzhou University, China

والرقم هنا